TIPS TO AVOID WASTE

Skip the Plastic-Wrapped Produce

It's not always easy—many grocery stores still rely heavily on shrink wrap, even for items that come with their own natural protection (shrink-wrapped bananas, anyone?).
Still, opting for unpackaged fruits and veggies is a small change that makes a big difference.

Ditch the Plastic Water Bottles

About 64% of bottled water in the U.S. is just tap water in single-use plastic, costly for you and the planet. Producing bottles uses thousands of gallons of oil and adds to pollution in oceans, landfills, and the air. Switch to a reusable bottle and a water filter to cut waste and reduce your carbon footprint.
